Ike's Ag Backers Beat Down Opposition

Lancaster Voting Heavy, Outstate Comparatively Light

Beatrice Exception To Trend

By the Associated Press

Despite perfect weather—clear skies and temperatures in the mid 70s—early returns from Nebraska polling places indicated a comparatively light primary election vote in the forenoon hours Tuesday

On the basis of these early returns it was impossible to conjecture whether the total vote would stack up to the 225 000 predicted by Secretary of State Frank Marsh in the event of favorable weather Voting gains momentum later in the day and a different picture could be presented by the time polls close at 8 p m

One exception was in Beatrice where the vote was quite a bit heavier than in the 1950 election—last off presidential year—when only 3 783 votes were cast for the entire day Beatrice has a few more than 5 000 registered voters

In populous Omaha which registered some 115 000 voters this year Election Commissioner Herman Kuppinger said the vote was very light up to 11 a m—not as heavy as in 1950

Norfolk Vote Light

Norfolk also reported an exceptionally light vote during the first two hours after the polls opened There were 175 voters in 12 precincts during the first two hours including 125 Republicans and 50 Democrats This was 50 fewer than in the 1952 primary which normally would have been heavier than an off year vote

Weather in Norfolk was perfect Skies were clear and lack of rain left side roads in good condition

Hastings had fewer than 1 000 voters by noon which was considered a light vote Hastings has 11 000 registered voters but it was impossible to compare the early vote with that of previous years because of a change in the precinct setup

One precinct ran counter to the trend and turned in a heavy vote early In this precinct the only local contest is for a county supervisor seat where there are rivals for both the Republican and Democratic nomination

North Platte Average

North Platte reported a vote of just under 600 which was considered about average for a non presidential year Up to 11 a m there had been 300 Republican votes and 234 Democratic votes cast

North Platte is a strategic location in this year's primary as top Senatorial candidates in both parties vote there

Gov Robert B Crosby contender for the Republican nomination for the 6 year Senate term flew to North Platte Tuesday morning and voted at 10 30 a m Former Governor Keith Neville who seeks the Democratic nomination for the same term also voted Tuesday morning Richard Dempster one of the 16 Republican candidates for the short term nomination was out of town and there was no word on what arrangements he had made to cast his ballot

At Scottsbluff in the extreme western section of Nebraska where there are 6 809 registered voters the voting was slower than usual despite good weather and roads plus the fact another of the leading contenders for the Republican long term Senate nomination—Terry Carpenter—is a Scottsbluff businessman

County Races Lead

Sheriff and commissioner races appeared to have top billing in the 38 precincts checked There was no estimate of the total vote at 11 a m (MST) In 1950 the county recorded a total vote of 5 595 for the day In the 1952 primary a presidential year the total in the county was 7 783

Kearney had 437 votes counted by 11 a m compared with 324 at the same time in 1950 This heavier vote was attributed to the fact that one of the leading contenders for the Republican long term Senate nomination is David T Martin of Kearney plus the fact there is considerable interest in several county races

Kearney has a four way contest for county attorney—two Republicans and two Democrats Buffalo County also is being redistricted and one new supervisor district is being formed in Kearney The redistricting program has heightened interest in all supervisor posts

Alliance Vote Light

Alliance voting was reported "very light through 11 a m (MST) with 125 of the 4 000 registered voters turning out The ballot included several local races that stirred interest

The vote at Heldrege was barely ahead of the light 1950 turnout Two hundred voters had balloted at 11 a m with the margin running 5 to 1 Republican The total vote in Phelps County was forecast at 1 400

The McCook turnout was "very light" with 180 voters in the eight precincts It was reported that a revision in the precincts may have kept down the early vote There was no heated local race

Voting in Cheyenne County was light early in the morning but was picking up to moderate by noon, election officials said

How Parties Voted in Primaries

	GOP	Dem.	% GOP
1950 state	130 8 1	2 0 9	98 1
1946 Lan	1 3 1	1 14	53
1950 state	110 0 5	9 0 7	69 0
1950 Lan	1 8	6 9 4	69 1
1952 Lan	1 60	11 6 3	67 9
1952 state	23 0	124 8 3	65 4

County Vote Total May Hit 30,000

It appeared that all former non-presidential primary totals might be broken in Lancaster County as voters flocked to the polls under sunny skies

Predictions for the total ran from 25,000 to 30 000

"It could reach 28,000" said Election Commissioner Harold Gillett

A little more conservative in his estimate Deputy Commissioner Pat Boyles clung to his 26 000 estimate

All former non-presidential primary totals should be broken A noon check of 18 scattered precincts, 14 in the city indicated a total early vote of 7 000 The country districts receive their heavy runs for evening after chores

Polls Close 8 p.m.

The heavy city vote is from 4 p m until closing There are some reasons for a heavy Lincoln vote Two gubernatorial candidates fighting it out to the wire are local men The county attorney scrap brings local men head to head There are nominations to be made for the Legislature and many other spots

In 1952 46 630

Total vote in Lancaster County at the presidential primary two years ago was 36 630, well above Tuesday's expected total The vote in the 1950 primary comparable with this election since presidential choices were not being made was 22 645 That vote is sure to have been eclipsed when the polls close at 8, observers said

Some of the smaller precincts found the going a bit slow but the large voting centers were cramming in the votes Ballot boxes, in some instances, were full before noon

There are 1 200 non political registered voters of a total registration city of 51 080 Sensing a heavy vote election officials sent 92 300 ballots to the 131 election boards 46 150 on the political side and a like number of non political

There are 131 precincts and 131 candidates one office seeker for every voting community

Bulletins Planned

James Mallon in charge of tabulating said that his staff will keep step with returns as they arrive When the last district reports the totals will be available These will be broken down for short bulletins throughout the evening Mallon will have 14 people working He will have two tabulating and five adding machines in service

Voters indicated election hunger as the polls opened In 6 E-3 20 had and South 19 voted during the first 19 minutes There were other one-a-minute precincts

At 10 D-4 2500 South 32 completed votes were reported in the first 18 minutes nearly two a minute In 9-E-3 2743 Stratford it was one a minute for the first 60 minutes Prior to noon 71 votes were cast at the Capitol 4-A This was heavy for that district

At Hayward School always a late afternoon and evening contest 60 votes were recorded at noon

Few Workers Out

There were few campaign workers out during the early hours Commissioner Gillett shooed several back to the 100 foot zone He also picked up two candidate cards in the window of one voting place

An early customer at one voting place was given the pole ballot but not the non political He was told he said as were several others that the latter is available only to those registered non political This however was straightened out quickly and the ballots supplied

Those registered non political are entitled to that ballot only at the primary

Several county precincts are parts within and parts without the Sanitary District Election boards had to watch this closely and do some scratching of names of candidates for trustee

There are 1 014 absentee and disabled voter ballots to reckon with At the 1950 primary the total was 751

Rural vs City Attitude

Out in the county farmers who live as far as 10 miles to their voting places In Lincoln one voter complained to headquarters of a two block walk A male voter objected because he could not park adjacent to the voting place but must park and walk a block

AFTER EFFECTS OF CAMPAIGN—The City Police Department had a large number of election signs on its hands Tuesday morning after taking down the illegally erected posters during the past few days The signs were taken from city property It is against the law to erect the signs in these areas Here Patrolman Don Heine shows a pile of signs On officer commented that more were taken down this year than ever before One reason for the large number was the last minute rush of erecting signs by the various candidates police said (Journal Photo)

Workers Near Polls Persuasive

By MARJORIE MARLETTE
Journal Staff Writer

Candidates and their supporters made last minute stands for votes at the precinct polls Tuesday

Their means of persuasion A smile, a 'please, and a campaign card

They were the precinct workers—pretty women in summer dresses children serious about their card-handing an occasional man rooting for his nephew or cousin or son or father

They stood along the walks leading to the polling places

Some of them were paid most were enthusiastic volunteers

While several candidates were reported asking votes in person at Irving School generally it was close relatives or friends seeking this deciding hour support for their choice

Polls Are Lively

With perfect weather over many but not all the polls were lively places to stop by for an exchange of political views Various campaign posters and signs Vote Here signs

Kids had a happy time of it With adult seriousness shoved aside

Please vote for my dad for ——

Or Vote for ——, please

Then they picked up their hoods and collected campaign cards from all the other workers ears stuffing their pockets with a miscellaneous collection of literature

Adults took equally polite though more vocal approaches to the voters anxious to get into the polls and mark their ballots

I'm Mrs —— ——— I'd appreciate a vote for my husband Mr ——— would appreciate your vote

Vote for him he's the best and a fine Christian man

Worker Impartial

One woman dressed and for two candidate impartially—and with no directive

Hello girls she greeted a couple of voters hurrying, poking the cards at them

Generally the precinct workers were greeted politely with

Thank

I will

He's the best man

Do your

Oh I've already voted

However a few

Impartial folk were invited and I'm going to vote for you

Non-Partisan To Bitter End

Asst Atty Gen Robert Nelson gave a surprise informal opinion on election matters

When he went to vote the poll workers refused to give him a non-political ballot

'You are registered as a Republican and can't vote the non-political ticket' Nelson was told

Nelson who handles all election law questions for the state attorney general's office made short work of that

Who do you think would vote for these non political candidates if we party voters didn't? Nelson demanded

The poll worker feebly handed him a non political ballot

Workers were said to have been told it was only natural for President Eisenhower to offer food to Iron Curtain flood victims because the hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific caused the floods.

Yanks to Assist Indochina Flight

HANOI, Indochina, (AP) — The United States backed up its promise of aid to Free Viet Nam today with American Navy transports to evacuate thousands from the future domain of the Vietminh Communists.

An unspecified number of American transports arrived in Haiphong, North Indochina's chief seaport, to begin transfer of Vietnamese civilians seeking escape to South Viet Nam.

They came in the wake of Washington's announcement that the U S government had agreed to South Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's request for help in speeding up the transfer of more than 100,000 refugees from the northern areas ceded to the Vietminh.

The American economic mission in Saigon also has asked Washington for 15 two-engine transport planes and 4 four-engine planes to swell the Hanoi-to Saigon airlift.

Emboldened by the American promise of help, the Viet Nam government announced that it planned to evacuate several hundred thousand refugees within 30 days instead of over 10-months as originally planned Officials have grown increasingly alarmed at the inroads which Vietminh propaganda and threats have been making in the ranks of previously anti-Communist Vietnamese in the north

As a starter, the Saigon government said it hoped to move 160,000 civilians—120,000 from Hanoi and the rest from Haiphong—by Aug. 15

Reliable sources in Saigon said the French also had asked for American assistance in moving French and Vietnamese troops from the north and that this would be supplied

As the government resettlement program stepped up leaders of the Philippine Junior Chambers of Commerce pushed up a private 'Asian aid to Asians' campaign to line up medical supplies, doctors, clothing and housing aid for the evacuees

Editorial Comment and Opinion

Both Ends Against the Middle

If the theory now current in Washington is based in fact, Otto John was an agent for both German regimes, and left the Bonn government suddenly for reasons that may or may not ever become clear. If that is the fact he was not the first such agent, may or may not be the last. Yet it was nearly three weeks from the night of his flight—enforced or voluntary — to East Germany that the Bonn government finally admitted that he had deserted." And at that very time high American officials, studying the two strange letters the doctor left his wife, were convinced that he was being held against his will.

If his flight was deliberate, it was the second such he had made. When a plot against Hitler's life was foiled on July 20, 1944 (he left Berlin on the innocent pretext that date by the way) a brother of Dr. John was one of the plotters who suffered the Leaders grim revenge. Dr. John also involved, escaped to Portugal. He ever since then had been a trusted servant of the West. All this while he had been developing an almost psychotic fear and hatred of the Nazis. He was far less concerned about the growing peril of Communism from the East though he never identified as a Communist or even a Socialist. It is now said that his position was far from being antagonistic to that of J. Edgar Hoover and that he had been fighting a losing battle with Gen. Gehlen head of a security service who inspired control the West German intelligence system and has seemed about to succeed. With practically nothing and an open hostile Dr. Johns have been in a mood to make a deal with East Berlin.

How much harm he can do is impossible to determine, though it could be very great. The fact remains that if his horror of resurgent Nazism has a real basis—and there have been bits of evidence appearing for a year and more—he may have left Bonn because he was frustrated by the lack of general alarm. He could yet prove to have been fearfully right about that.

A MOMENT'S THOUGHT

John 14:27

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid

—Selected by Captain Walter Kennedy, Salvation Army

For a Little Less Shouting

President Eisenhower spoke to the point when he suggested less shouting about America's leadership in the free world. What he was actually telling the newsmen at his press conference was that it was high time we were assuming a more adult attitude in our foreign relations. There was no suggestion of backing away from the position of leadership among the nations seeking peace and freedom, for which destiny appears to have raised up this country (he didn't make any such claim). Indeed he spoke for accelerating the continued struggle to raise living standards of people in many countries through the peacetime use of atomic energy. Such leadership as this country has established—and it is visible in quite a large field—is widely enough known that it shouldn't be necessary to go on reminding other nations of it.

Other governments seem now to be aware of the fact that they cannot successfully fight the spread of Communist tyranny without enlisting American co-operation. In the situation the President emphasized our leadership is implicit. It only needs to be recognized by our neighbors without being shouted from the housetops in a manner that can only irritate and dismay the partners we must work with. They do not altogether understand our psychology, which is that of a still young nation so aware of its own honesty and good faith as to lose sight of the fact that allies don't automatically take this for granted while enemies make use of it.

With Red propagandists twisting everything to suit their own purpose, the words of American statesmen can be made into barriers to understanding between this country and the friends with whom it has made defense a common cause. A long view of international relations suggests that to accept President Eisenhower's advice on this point could enhance our security as greatly as some of the billions of dollars being spent for arms. It would be good advice at any time, and never better than now.

Speed Transfer of Vietnamese

A typical American errand is that on which a group of American Navy transports have arrived in Haiphong, North Indo-China. Washington had promised Free Vietnam substantial aid in transferring many thousands of civilians out of the section of their country now in the hands of the Vietminh Communists. More than 100,000 are to be moved into the still free territory.

With this help at hand, the Viet Nam government changed its plans radically and for a weighty reason. It now proposes to get the refugees into the free area in a month or two, instead of in ten months as planned. It appears that Vietminh propaganda and threats are making converts among the defeated, persuading them they will be better off where they are. That implies their turning Communist, to be sure, but to people in their situation that could easily be presented as the course of realism.

At the same time the Vietnamese Nationalists are demonstrating vigorously in Saigon, capital of the free area, against the Chinese against the Communist-led rebels among their own people— nd against the French. They called on the free world for help in getting the Reds out of their country. This was a brave gesture, and will be followed by others for there is a national election coming up in less than two years. Ten years ago, even two years ago, most Americans hardly knew what and where Indo-China was. If Communism did nothing else it would have promoted the study of geography on a grand scale. Saigon is no longer the exotic name of an Oriental city; it is the capital of a vital area in the world struggle against Communism.

In New York, Too

Gotham-on-Subway didn't have all Lincoln's troubles to contend with before starting its latest big building project a coliseum in Columbus Circle because it already had plenty of theaters and concert halls. Yet the $30 million structure was years getting under way, and is only now reaching the stage where a cornerstone can be laid with ceremony. This immense exhibit hall will rise at the southwest corner of a tract bounded by West 58th and 60th streets, Ninth avenue and the Circle. The big hole is already one third dug. Beset by many lawsuits and delays the project is now expected to be finished early in 1956. As the home of permanent and occasional exhibitions of the myriad manufactures of the nation, it will constitute a permanent fair—without a midway—where makers, buyers and tourists will flock from all over this country, and some from across the seas.

Joseph and Stewart Alsop

Where Silence Is Golden

WASHINGTON—Despite all the current ruckus, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy will not be an important issue in this year's election campaign. Indeed, by all the signs, he won't be any kind of an issue at all.

This may seem a little hard to believe, what with still another committee girding its loins to examine the McCarthy phenomenon. Yet it is demonstrably true. McCarthy will only become an issue in any state election if some candidate wants to make him an issue. And these reporters, after searching high and low in both parties for such a candidate, have drawn a total blank.

Joseph Alsop

Hoey, for example, Rep. George Bender of Ohio, Republican candidate for the Senate. Queried on what stand he will take on McCarthyism, Bender replies: 'I don't propose to enter into that situation in any way. I will, and I propose to say so frankly to the voters.'

Or, Harold Patrick McNamara of Michigan, Democratic candidate for the Senate. Asked to his opinion on McCarthy and McCarthyism, McNamara replies: 'Things are in such a fluid state it is difficult to put into words.' Understandably, in view of this difficulty, he adds that he has no particular plans for making McCarthy an issue right now.'

Even those who are committed up to the hilt have no intention of rolling up the votes unnecessarily. Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois was one of the brave little band of 12 Senators who voted against dumping the McCarthy censure resolution. Asked whether he intends to press the issue in his fourth campaign, Sen. Douglas replies by quoting the advice Polonius gave Laertes: 'Be aware of entrance to a quarrel; but being in, bear that the opposed may beware of thee.'

Not an Issue

To put the matter less elegantly, if Joseph Meek, Sen. Douglas' Republican opponent, wants a fight on the McCarthy issue, he can have one. But Douglas himself isn't going to start anything. At the moment, at least, it does not look as though McCarthy intended to start anything either. Some weeks back, he was making what sounded like bold pro-McCarthy noises.

It may be that President Eisenhower's surprisingly warm letter of endorsement which Meek had long sought had something to do with this cool indifference. A rather similar situation prevails in Iowa. The Republican senatorial candidate there, Rep. Thomas Martin, was also talking a while back about "welcoming" McCarthy into his state.

Now, reportedly as the result of some knuckle-rapping by both the state and national organizations, Martin is no longer making McCarthy noises. As for the Democratic incumbent, Sen. Guy Gillette, he says simply of the McCarthy issue, 'I don't intend to even mention it.'

Wherever you look, from Massachusetts to California, you will find candidates who don't even intend to mention it. In some states this is because there is not much point in mentioning it. In Kentucky, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, for example, has come out flat-footed against McCarthyism and Clifford Case, Republican senatorial candidate in New Jersey, has taken a similarly courageous stand. Thus, in the Democratic opponents could not make McCarthyism an issue even if they had a mind to.

• •

Political Wallflower

Yet the fact is that no one has a mind to in either party. This is partly because in the case of Meek many Republicans desperately need the President's support, and it is clearly no longer possible to hang onto both McCarthy and the Presidential coattail. Rep. Bender, for example, who is now so candidly uncommunicative on McCarthy used to have McCarthy tendencies. Now he loves to point out that he is one of only 17 representatives with a 100 per cent pro-Eisenhower voting record.

But this is by no means the whole explanation. Two years ago, an effective plenty of Republican candidates who openly fought McCarthy's support. A few months ago McCarthy was expected to be actively fought after New Hope's political wellfixer.

This change derives essentially from the fact that any politician always hesitates to take a strong stand on any issue on which a hard core of voters feel passionately—but above all if these voters normally belong to his party. It is because so many hard core McCarthyites have been Democrats that Democratic campaigners, with a few notable exceptions, have tended to weasel on McCarthy.

Now, the Republicans are discovering an equivalent hard core of anti-McCarthy voters—people who will never vote for a candidate committed to McCarthy—among Democrats normally vote Republican. This is hardly surprising since McCarthy has done much to damage and undermine the Democratic administration in 20 years. In such a situation, for any candidate, silence is golden.

Preparation and delivery of the germ warfare report was the assignment he'd asked that 'scared the heck out of me.'

Surgeon Delegate

An item to be told me. Like full part in the Assembly proceedings and committee work. The five U.S. delegates this year were public officials—Dulles and Henry Cabot Lodge, two representatives and a governor—and the five alternates private citizens. This year Lodge will head the delegation which will include two senators from each party. Last year there was a senator on the delegation as alternate. One of Dr. Mayo's fellow alternates was Henry Ford II. He worked hard, too.

"It wasn't any vacation," Dr. Mayo said. "With the U.S. represented on ten Assembly committees and with 73 subjects on the agenda, work on the various committees and subjects was parceled out to each of the ten and they put in a good many night hours. 'My wife got to see thirty shows but I got to take in only three,' he laughed.

Ever since he's been in demand all over the country for speaking engagements and this in itself has taken a lot of his time.

Speaking of medical experts, since the death of the famous quintuplet Fabian Dionne, during an epileptic seizure, some of the experts have been pointing out that a number of the great figures of history were afflicted with this same disease. Julius Caesar, Alexander the Great and Lord Byron, the poet, suffered from epilepsy, as did Guy de Maupassant, Fedor Dostoyevsky, Charles Algernon Swinburne and Alfred Lord Tennyson. The great musician Niccolo Paganini and the great painter Vincent Van Gogh were epileptic. The ailment obviously didn't affect their ability to win fame.

Old Age Catches Up With Famous Alcatraz Prison

By NORMAN RITTER
United Press Staff Correspondent

ALCATRAZ, Calif. (UP) — The famous Rock of the federal prison system is full of creaky plumbing, rusty bars and old ghosts. And worst and old of all, they have to cope with Alcatraz.

Federal Prison Director James V. Bennett, who sold Congress on the idea of keeping Alcatraz open, is perhaps its strongest supporter. He personally has made improvements in security, and he himself has moved in the island's aging cellblocks.

Alcatraz, the escape-proof prison, has 260 dangerous prisoners and somehow hasn't attracted the wrath of San Francisco Bay residents about to slip out.

But federal prison officials believe Alcatraz, which was born of criticism from U.S. Army prisoners, has improved with age. They say it has lived down its notorious reputation and would be a credit to any penal system in the world. Bennett said. Perhaps in the Midwest.

Location Is Costly

One of the costliest aspects of running Alcatraz is its location. It must draw supplies from all over the United States. Lest it be of more concern to prisoners than to taxpayers, Bennett said, Alcatraz is operated on a self-supporting basis.

Surgeon Delegate

Prisoners have been known to swim the shark-infested waters of San Francisco Bay in attempts to escape. Bennett said. Perhaps a dozen have tried it. Only two are known to have succeeded. Both were drowned.

Two prisoners have even tried to escape from Alcatraz by helicopter. They took over the helicopter while it was on a visit to the island. Bennett said. Both were captured.

Floor Cracked From Settling

Evidence of the settling process in the island can be seen in the main cellblock. The floor is uneven and cracked.

Outside, strong winds and salt air have taken their toll on the concrete rail along a road leading up the west side of the island.

While it hasn't been decided whether to repair Alcatraz or build a new prison, opinion is fairly uniform throughout the federal prison system on one point. The country can get along without Alcatraz as a good institution.

Without disclosing any sentimental attachment for the rock, prison officials will tell you they believe it would be hard to convince the nation on the mainland, however, that such as walls that would be as escape-proof. Bennett said.

Few prisoners have ever tried to escape from Alcatraz and none who tried has ever succeeded.

Two brothers, Theodore Cole and Ralph Limerick, tried to make it in December, 1938.

They cut their way out of the metal shops and jumped into the bay during a heavy fog. They were never seen again, and official records list them as drowned.

Man With Longest Bus Ticket Here

He is Harry Townsend, ambassador of good will representing the Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations of Orange, N.J. Now 79, he has traveled more than 80,000 miles since 1937.

In each city he visits he attempts to obtain bus tickets of the Chamber of Commerce and civic organization and several days later mails them to the next city on his itinerary.

Last week he received 41 cards, 28 of which were from Canada. His goal was to receive 25 cards from 1,000 cities. Next year he will visit the British Isles.

Benson Warns Of Profiteering

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today he has an Congress to buy dairy price supports would cost the Treasury $100 million more and put peculators in a position to gain windfall profits that might amount to several million dollars.

The secretary said the profits could be made on butter and other dairy products bought at the current 75 per cent of parity and sold to the government at 80 or 85 per cent after the higher supports went into effect. He said there were indications that speculators are holding back butter for this purpose.

Unidentified Jets Fire at Town

BRIDLINGTON, England (UP)— Unidentified jet planes swooped in from the North Sea Monday and sent a burst of cannon fire into this Yorkshire town. Two houses were damaged. But no one was hurt.

The British Air Ministry at first said a Royal Air Force plane was involved, but later withdrew the statement. A U.S. Air Force spokesman said none of its planes had been in the area all day.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Recently The Journal published a series of 12 articles by the nationally prominent writer on social issues, Howard Whitman, in which he discussed the problems of divorce. This is the second of two articles in which The Journal reports on the Lincoln and Nebraska impact of divorce as revealed by the records and by comments from judges who deal first-hand with the problem.

'Counseling Could Slash Divorce Rate'

When a divorce case reaches trial to decide whether it is to be granted in court here is how much the judge of divorce can do.

But before that time there are many ways to head off court action and divorce.

Although there are few, if any, counselors in Lincoln trained specifically in the art of marriage, schools, universities and churches offer marriage and family life courses.

Lancaster County couples who are having marital difficulties often ask civic and church leaders, doctors, psychiatrists, Judge Roy Cline, Family Service, the Catholic Social Service Bureau or other individuals for advice.

The implication that a couple is willing to seek counsel, social workers note, is an encouraging sign.

One Lancaster District Court judge believes that proper marriage counseling can boil down the divorce rate to a minimum of "congenital throwbacks" — men and women who are constitutionally incapable of marriage.

Or if all persons could become alert to the basic foundations of happy life the judge said there would be fewer divorces.

No Early Adjustment

The secret of [illegible] is the failure to adjust to marriage, particularly conflicts that arise when two single persons [illegible] a common home and out of [illegible] to realize the obligations of fairness in the 50-50 deal of marriage.

Some persons who can't get along together and who eventually seek divorce one judge characterized as selfish and incapable of getting an objective viewpoint of their marriages and themselves.

Lincoln ministers also felt that primary causes of divorce are juvenility and closely linked immaturity. Lack of proper interpretation of marriage was another factor which ministers said made for unstable marriages.

Financial difficulties were counted by Family Service workers as well as by District Court judges as important marriage problems. However one Lincoln minister contended that couples working together to make ends meet breeds happiness and said that in his work with troubled couples he hadn't found the economic factor a strong one.

Another problem which often shows up in Family Service cases is crowded housing that is the problem of more than one family living under a single roof. This crops up when explained in such cases as when a man flies and his wife moves in with a married son or daughter.

Normal Yen

As for the complaint from the other woman, one Lancaster judge observed that man is a natural polygamist who, around the age of 40, is attracted to something new and glamorous — be other woman — against something he has — his wife.

"I'm not sure," the judge said, and it is my theory, there's something wrong. But social inventions and the mans principles are likely to keep him straight.

If not the wife's best bet — the judge advised is to play it smart. Her criticism of her husband, the coals of fire she heaps upon his head, can drive him to the other woman.

For the wife, the business of keeping a husband has to be a continuous task. She must be in her attributes which first attracted him. And if she does, even in the face of another woman, the glamor of something new will soon wear off, and the husband will be ready to come home to mama.

Whatever the cause of marital trouble, the function of counselors is to strengthen the family unit — to steer the couple away from divorce court.

However in some cases reconciliation is not recommended. One judge explained that there are some individuals who are so totally selfish they can't get along with anybody.

But it was agreed that the divorce rate should be trimmed to that minimum. The fringe cases usually can be headed off by proper counseling.

Children Can Help

Another powerful influence in reconciliations is the presence of children. Even though divorced unhappy homes in which the parents are not divorced can be worse for children than badly broken homes, children can bring the troubled couple back together again — but this is [illegible] there is not a divorce, that is a chance for correction of an unstable conditions.

Though it was said that in many parts of the country attorneys at law encourage divorce for the sake of getting cases, Lancaster County lawyers have received praise by the Family Service unit from trial judges for their effort to encourage reconciliation between couples who come to them for advice.

Most cases heard by the District Court just on the basis of proper conception of family intimacy, on marriage reconciliation. Attorneys commented that most of the cases generally do very fine [illegible] and divorce is dealt with efforts to avoid reconciliations.

Many potential divorce suits this judge added never reach the filing stage because of the efforts of lawyers.

Family Service cited the number of refusals to accept [illegible] witnesses who had [illegible] the couple [illegible] in divorce action as proof the [illegible] of counseling.

But the lawyer who might earn a fee whether he reconciled a couple or not, [illegible]

Favorable Weather Halts Corn Decline

Only in Southwest Is Moisture In Soil Inadequate for Growth

Last weeks timely precipitation and cooler weather halted deterioration of the Nebraska corn crop throughout most of the major producing area

This was the report from the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics

Hit southwest and some local spots elsewhere continued dry and soil moisture is inadequate for plant growth, the report said

Considerable corn had been damaged beyond recovery for grain production, but much can be utilized for silage fodder or pasture

89 Per cent Tasseled

Approximately 89 per cent of the corn had tasseled by the close of the week, and the rain, together with lower temperatures will be a favorable factor in fertilization

Corn under irrigation continues to show excellent prospects for high yields while dry land corn has held up remarkably well considering the high temperatures and lack of rain in July

While growth was curtailed most plants except those badly burned retained a healthy dark green color the report added

Hail destroyed considerable acreage in Fillmore and Thayer counties last week

Other Comment

Sorghums will show improvement in areas where rains occurred Most of the grain varieties are heading and should produce a fair to good yield

Soybeans continue in good condition

Harvest of the early commercial potato crop is progressing rapidly, with yields slightly higher than last year

Dry beans sugar beets and potatoes in the Panhandle continue in good condition

Alfalfa is recovering rapidly from the dry weather

Pastures are gaining rapidly

Placements Are Reported

The State Employment Service reported 721 placements of farm labor in Nebraska last week

Of the total 488 were in wheat harvest Another 125 were beet workers the service said

General rains throughout the central and eastern part of the state materially aided the corn prospects However rain was received too late to aid in restoration of some fields the report stated

Corn detasseling was practically complete in all areas No shortage of help was reported for seasonal activities, with only a few married and single hands needed for steady farm jobs

Battalion Fire Chief Frank Conry identified the dead as Peter Biroscik 37, his son, Mickey 4 and daughter Kay 5

Mrs Biroscik was uninjured after being pushed through a window by her husband

Conry said Mrs Biroscik woke up to discover the house on fire She awakened her husband who boosted her through the window and shouted he was going for the children

A neighbor across the street saw the fire of undetermined origin and turned in the alarm When firemen arrived they discovered the bodies of Biroscik and Mickey near the back door Kay's body was found in her bedroom near a window

LOUP CITY (AP) — Two Loup City doctors were inoculating large numbers of Arcadia children after the death from polio Sunday night of Dickie Coons, 14 of near Arcadia

Dickie son of Mr and Mrs Marvin Coons died of bulbar polio in a Grand Island hospital after becoming ill Thursday night Because the Arcadia doctor was on vacation he was taken to Loup City and was later moved to Grand Island

His brother Dale was one of more than 150 children living in the Arcadia vicinity to receive gamma globulin shots

Clinic Is Crowded

Dr Carl Amick of Loup City reported that frightened Arcadians began pouring into the Loup City Clinic after the arrival of the first gamma globulin from Grand Island

He said he and Dr John H Bogle ran out of GG twice during two full days of inoculations

Dr Amick said he could see no let up in the steady stream of children and a few adults who seek inoculations

He predicted that a fresh shipment of gamma globulin would not meet demands if the number of Arcadians wanting shots continues at its present rate

Arcadia is approximately 18 miles from Loup City It is 29 miles from Broken Bow and 23 miles from Ansley Polio outbreaks at both Broken Bow and Ansley brought similar mass inoculations a few weeks ago

Three Mass Inoculations

The three towns in central Nebraska are the only places in the state where mass inoculation has been attempted

Dr Amick said a suspect case had been reported at Arcadia several weeks ago but the victim was dismissed from a Grand Island hospital a short time later

"Kids who normally holler over a penicillin shot just lie up there on the table without a protest Dr Amick said

Doctors Told Don't Use Hypertensive Labels

NEW YORK (UP)—An authority on hypertension urges medical men to top making innumerable physical and emotional invalids by getting too excited over the blood pressure of otherwise healthy men.

Dr. Arthur M. Master, associate clinical professor of medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, was arguing that the measurement of how high is high in blood pressure can be meaningless for many persons.

These present standards, widely accepted in medicine, make invalids because the physicians admonition to reduce, educational activities and to engage only in non-strenuous occupation has unnecessarily subjected these normal men and women to a severe psycho-emotional trauma, he said.

Causes Disruption

"The 'did I hypertensive' has caused marked disruption of their civil lives, and great economic loss not only to themselves but to their families, to industry and to the nation."

Dr. Master objected to the label being pinned on a man on the basis of his blood pressure reading alone. That, he said, is unrealistic. There should be supporting signs and symptoms before anyone is called hypertensive, and that is the general rule for diagnosing almost all other diseased conditions.

Bettor Just Pays the Rent, Racing Profit Is Popcorn, Soda Pop

By JIM RAGLIN
Journal Sports Writer

Admissions, programs and concessions are a bigger boon to horse race sponsors in Nebraska than the public might think.

It will probably be these two items that keep the Fairgrounds Races in the black this season. The races start Thursday and run through Aug. 31, except for Sundays.

State law requires a 90 per cent return to the public for every dollar wagered on a race.

Thus, if $100,000 is bet, the return must be $90,000.

"The 10 per cent we can keep pays our operating expenses," said Ed Schultz, secretary of the State Fair Board.

Profits usually come from admissions, programs and the wide array of concessions offered for sale at the grandstand.

This year the Fairgrounds will feature an electric tote board which will automatically compute odds on the horses and the amounts bet on each horse to win, place or show. It also will post the payoff for winning tickets.

This involved and intricate machinery, rented for the 17-day season here, is the latest thing in pari-mutuel betting.

What is pari-mutuel betting?

Simply, it is the placing of a bet on a particular horse. A person may bet that the horse wins, places (finishes second) or shows (finishes third). The least amount that can be bet is $2.

$10 the Most

Highest priced win, place or show tickets sold at the Fairgrounds cost $10. Any number of tickets in any price range can be purchased.

For your money you get a ticket with a number on it. It corresponds to the number of the horse you bet on (as listed in the official program).

Let's follow a bettor in a typical (or untypical, as you choose) situation.

Assume our man decides horse X will win. He goes to a $2 (or more) seller window and asks for a ticket on X, giving the number, not the name, of the horse.

If X wins, the totalizer board will flash the amount that can be collected by holders of tickets on the horse. Depending on the total amount wagered on X, the payoff varies. If a heavy favorite, the return will be smaller than if X was a longshot.

Had X finished second (or third, or out of the money), our bettor would have no [illegible] tote board. He wouldn't have collected on his win ticket.

Had he bet X to place and had the horse won, he would collect. The same is true if he bet X to show and it won or placed. The payoff declines accordingly, the win returning most, show the least.

It is possible, however, for a horse to pay more for a show than a place, depending on the amount of money wagered.

A return of $4, $2.40 and $2.80 could be posted. It would indicate that the horse was backed heavily [illegible] and less heavily to show. The totalizer computes these figures automatically and pays off accordingly.

Collect at Window

If our bettor won on his selection, he must go to a cashier window and present the ticket he purchased. He will receive the amount posted on the tote board.

In addition to win, place and show tickets, a person may purchase a combination ducat on a horse.

These cost either $6 or $15.

They return all a horse wins, as determined and posted by the tote board. If our bettor has a $6 combination ticket on X and the horse wins, the return is the total of X's win, place and show money.

If X returns $6 for win, $4 for place and $2 for show, the $6 combination ticket would be worth $12. A $15 combination ticket in the same situation would return $30.

Let's say the horse placed. Then the $6 return would be $6 and the $15, $15. If the horse showed, the $6 would pay $2 and the $15 ticket would be worth $5.

Another way to wager is the daily double.

Here the bettor purchases a $2 ticket on the horses he thinks will win both the first and second race. If they both win, he collects. If one wins and the other doesn't, he loses. It is a double gamble and the return is correspondingly higher than if the bettor had wagered on the same two horses singly prior to the start of each race.

Who can participate in pari-mutuel betting in Nebraska?

Any person 21 or more years old can legally bet on the horses in this state. Minors are not allowed in the pari-mutuel area by state law.

It is ironical that Red McQuillen had to take over management of the Lincoln Chiefs just as they were facing a club etching new Western League records.

Pueblo's Dodgers swept the 3-game stand against Red's Chiefs, 4-0, Monday night and in doing so tied the modern Western League record for consecutive victories at 16.

The Dodgers go to Wichita tonight to try for a new mark.

McQuillen's lads tried hard but the Dodgers were just too much. The Chiefs lost the three games, 6-4, 5-1 and 4-0. None of the defeats were bad but only in the first game did Lincoln ever manage the lead—that at 2-1 in the second inning.

From then on the pesky Dodgers went to work.

They tied the mark set by Des Moines in 1947 and equalled by Denver in 1948.

Cards Here Next

Lincoln will now try Omaha for a couple of nights in an equally discouraging task as the Cardinals are fighting a game battle for second place and, remotely, for first.

It will be a doubleheader at Sherman Field, first game starting at 6:30. McQuillen will give the Cards both barrels, pitching Andy Bush and Frank Stewart.

The night will also see 120 lads from the Grand Island Little League entertained and honored and also it will be Elgin Night, postponed from last week.

Three Pitchers Used

In Monday night's battle McQuillen sent three pitchers—Don Stoker, Roger Wright and Al Point—to the mound and all did a good job, but not quite good enough.

The Dodgers got four single runs, one each in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh. The first two were off Stoker, who picked up his third defeat and the last two off Wright, one of them unearned.

All together Pueblo got 11 hits. Lincoln managed but five off Clyde DeWitt, who registered his 12th win against six defeats.

The Chiefs got just two men as far as third base and they were both stranded helplessly.

Hot Putter Aids Anderson to Win

By JIM RAGLIN
Journal Sports Writer

Young Dick Anderson got a preview Monday of the pressures he can expect in the coming months.

About to assume a coaching assignment, his first, at Gordon High School, the Fairbury native copped the Men's City Invitational Golf Championship at Lincoln Country Club. He defeated Stan Stroh, a fellow Pioneers golfer, 4-3.

The former University of Nebraska athlete reacted superbly to many pressure-packed situations during the match. His putting was especially accurate and helped Anderson compile a 4-up lead at the end of the morning round (18 holes).

The bulge held up, although narrowed to 3-up a couple of times by Stroh. Stroh was dormie after the 32nd hole. The match ended on the 33rd, which was halved.

Anderson was two under par when the match was decided. Stroh was three over.

First Attempt

"I had a hot putter in the morning, while Stan's putting was off [illegible], and he missed some very [illegible]. That about did it," of the oldest rookie Anderson showing the finals.

The blond-thatched victor seldom missed a putt from 10 or less feet out. Stroh, seeking his first title, rimmed the cup on several similar putt attempts in the morning.

He was 4-down at the end of 18, shooting a 74 to Anderson's two-under-par 70.

Finest shot of the match came on the 27th hole. Stroh was on the fringe of the green about 50 feet from the pin. He stroked a beautiful putt onto the green and into the cup. It was a 50-footer, according to LCC pro Bud Williamson.

But Anderson again rose to the occasion.

He plopped in a neat 18-footer to take the hole.

Stroh had taken an out-of-bounds penalty on his drive. It was one of two penalty strokes assessed. Anderson lost a stroke on the 30th when the ball moved as he addressed it.

He lost that hole to see his advantage slip to 3-up. Anderson hiked his lead to 4-up again on the 31st with a birdie three while Stroh overshot the green while blasting out of a sand trap.

They halved the 14th making Stroh dormie.

Anderson is no newcomer to sports. He was Doane College's starting quarterback in 1951 and 1952. He transferred to NU in 1953, but a knee injury kept him sidelined as a Cornhusker gridder.

"I'm glad he's moving to Gordon," one link vet said in good humor. "We have plenty of fine, young golfers to beat without adding Andy to the list."

In the first flight finals, Glen Walter defeated Emil Frank, 4-3

Pueblo Seeking League Record

By United Press

Pueblo goes to Wichita Tuesday in quest of the modern Western League record for consecutive victories—17.

The rampaging Dodgers were impressive Monday night in their 4-0 shutout of Lincoln, enabling them to tie the modern league record at 16 straight, established in 1947 by Des Moines and equalled the next year by Denver

Pueblo's last defeat was to Omaha, 5-0, on July 24. Since then, the Dodgers have moved from sixth to fourth place, only one-half game out of third in the standings Pueblo was 19 games out of first place when its victory string began and now is 14 and one-half games behind first place Denver.

Denver, meanwhile, swept its series from Sioux City Monday on a 5-2 victory as righthander Bib Garber scored his 15th win of the season. Wichita downed Des Moines, 5-2 and Omaha thumped lowly Colorado Springs, 6-2

Garber's 12th straight victory moved him to within one of the modern league record for consecutive wins, set by Lou Ciola of Omaha in 1952. Rocco Ippolito drove home two runs for Denver to raise his 1954 runs batted in total to 107.

Ron Kump spaced seven hits and allowed only one earned run in beating Colorado Springs. Jimmy King hit his 17th homer for Omaha with one on in the seventh.

Wichita scored all its five runs in the fourth inning in easing past Des Moines Three singles, a walk and George Hallow's homer accounted for the scoring.

Wichita Fans Really Own Ball Players

WICHITA, Kan (AP) — How would you like to own a baseball player? You can if you live in Wichita

Fact is five of the 18 players on the Wichita Indians roster were 'bought' by the fans.

Les Layton for example. He's the playing manager of the Indians, a Class A Western League club Members of a business club chipped in to buy Layton's contract from Shreveport of the Texas League.

A group of female fans—secretaries and clerks—put up part of the dough that has made other player deals possible Employees of the Boeing plant which builds B47 Stratojet bombers here contributed bonus money for Jack O'Donnell, a free-agent hurler

Business Manager Bob Doty says the idea is catching on. Several civic groups have asked to be let in on player deals next year.

The arrangement makes it possible for the club to buy players it could not otherwise afford. It also helps to create new fans For example, District Lodge 70 of the International Association of Machinists (AFL) put up the money to buy first baseman George Hallow from Fayetteville of the Class B Carolina League "You can find hundreds of Lodge 70 members along the first base line" says Doty, "whooping up for Mr HAM" That's what they call Fallow

The sixth place club is expecting to pass last year's home attendance record any night now

Doty says the sponsors get a sort of chattel mortgage on the player's contract—a memorandum If he's sold at a loss, they absorb the loss And if we break even on him we've had his services meantime

People Better, Horses Not

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Human speedburners are giving thoroughbred race horses the horse laugh these days when it comes to setting world records

The recent exploits of England's Roger Bannister and Australia's John Landy, both of whom have cracked the four-minute mile barrier this year, proved that the human race is developing faster and stronger runners.

When these two young men hooked up in the "mile of the century" last week at Vancouver, B C, some track fans were disappointed when Landy's world standard of 3 58 remained on the books But on the way to his heart-breaking defeat by Bannister, Landy unofficially lowered the 1,500 meter standard

Dash Record Equalled

Earlier this year, Australia's Hector Hogan equalled the world's 100-yard dash record, while Emil Zatopek, the tireless Czech runner, set two new distance marks in three days during a flying trip from behind the iron curtain.

Zatopek buzzed into Paris on May 31 and lowered the 5,000-meter record, then showed up in Brussels on June 2 and cracked his own mark for 10,000 meters.

While the thin-clads continually are setting their sights on new horizons, the turf world hasn't had anything resembling a record-buster since Citation and Noor gave up chasing each other three years ago

In 1950 alone these two famed thoroughbreds set three world track records that still are on the books Citation, then a five-year-old, lowered the mile standard to one minute, 33 3-5 seconds The Irish bred Noor ran a mile-and-a-furlong in 1 46 4 5 for a new record at Golden Gate on June 17 of that year

Equal Not Produced

Seven days later, Noor was back on the California track and this time sped a mile-and-a-quarter in 1 58 1 5 for another world's record.

"Big Cy" and his arch rival eventually were retired to stud, and the racing world hasn't yet produced their equal. Native Dancer has come along in the meantime to be ranked as one of the winners of all time. But "The Dancer" is the type of a horse who never extends himself, so has yet to set a world record.

Perez Gets Impressive TKO By Flattening Dickie Wong

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Jo Perez of New York will get another television fight on Labor Day because of his impressive second-round TKO over previously lightweight Dickie Wong of Honolulu

Displaying unsuspected punching power, Perez ruined Wong's metropolitan debut Monday night by flooring him with a terrific right and stopping him at 2:07 of the second round in St Nicholas Arena

Wong, a Chinese-Portuguese-Hawaiian stylist of the Bobo Olson school, weighed 138½ pounds to Danny Jo's 139 and was favored at 6-5 because of his 13 straight victories as a professional.

Perez, who had registered but three knockouts in his previous 16 pro fights, smashed Wong on the chin with his newly fashioned straight right in the second round and dropped Dickie to the canvas for the first time in his career of 80 amateur and 14 pro bouts.

The Hawaiian barely regained his feet at the count of 10. However, he was so helpless as he lurched sideways that Referee Pete Scalzo immediately stopped the bout.

In the TV fight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night, middleweights Walter Cartier of New York and Ted Olla of Milwaukee battled to a 10-round draw. Each weighed 162 pounds.

Cartier was favored at 3-1 because of his punch and speed But Olla provided such unexpectedly strong opposition he probably would have won, had not Referee Harry Ebbets penalized Olla the seventh round for low blows. Olla bled from the nose and from a slight cut on his right brow.

Oil, Gas Completions Increase

DENVER (AP)—Oil and gas operators completed 2,357 wells in 10 Western states in the first seven months of this year, exactly as many as were drilled in all of 1953

In addition, Petroleum Information reported, a new single month record was set when 455 wells were completed in the 10 states in July

The seven month drilling program so far this year produced 1 177 oil wells and 259 gas properties Of the 2 357 total, 731 were wildcat or exploratory wells, but only 102 of these—75 oil and 27 gas—were producers

The 10-state breakdown, showing total completions, oil and gas wells and dry holes, follows

Wyoming, 785, 558, 13 and 214; Colorado, 761, 326 41 and 394, New Mexico, 220, 5, 181 and 34, Nebraska 207, 93, 12 and 102, Montana 174, 86, 5 and 83 North Dakota, 180, 102 0 and 58 Utah, 36 5, 7 and 24, South Dakota, 12, 2 0 and 10 Arizona 1 0, 0 and 1, Nevada 1 0, 0 and 1

The oil survey service said industry sources predict 4,724 wells will be completed in the 10 state area by the end of this year

In Nebraska Sam Joseph, independent California operator, recovered 1 600 feet of oil on a 2-hour drillstem test at 6,006 10 feet of his No 1 Houtby well in Kimball County The well is a mile northwest of production in the Kenton pool Western Nebraska had 16 new locations during the week 10 of them wildcats

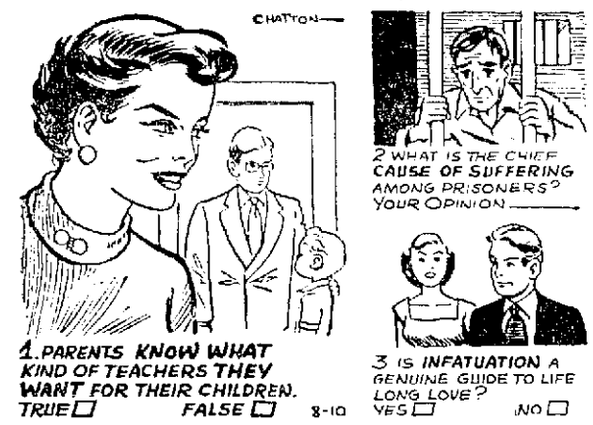
LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

BY ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Sc.



CHATTON—
1. PARENTS KNOW WHAT KIND OF TEACHERS THEY WANT FOR THEIR CHILDREN. TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐ 8-10
2 WHAT IS THE CHIEF CAUSE OF SUFFERING AMONG PRISONERS? YOUR OPINION
3 IS INFATUATION A GENUINE GUIDE TO LIFE LONG LOVE? YES ☐ NO ☐

1. Don't they though! Victoria Smith, Philadelphia teacher, interviewed 160 parents. Teachers, hold your hats, here it comes! "Well-groomed, healthy, vigorous, open-minded, efficient, frank, patient, imaginative, sense of humor, tact, keen-minded, sympathetic, calm, fair, strict, progressive, love for children, co-operative," etc., etc. There ain't no such person, yet parents want all that for $60 a week. Tomorrow: What teachers want from parents.

2. Psychologist Maurice Farber has shown the suffering of prisoners is chiefly related not to the time they have served, or the time left to serve, or the kind of job they have; but to the lack of certainty as to the time of getting out. Dr. Farber's researches show it is more our "future-time-perspective" than our present situation that determines our happiness.

3. No. As Adrian Anderson has said, "Marry a girl who dotes on romance. Lady she has married an antidote." Divorcees and unhappily married persons aren't the ones? Boys often "fall in love with a dimple or curl, and then find they've married the entire girl."

Not This This

Mother: "Come back here! You can't play ball until you help me clear up this table. Don't throw that away, Jack. . . . Wipe off the silver, Jean."

Mother: "Dad why don't you decorate the cleaning up our picnic table in such a game way you do your office work? We'll all work under your direction."

New ways of enlisting family help can make disliked jobs more pleasant.
